The font used would be Times New Roman and the size of the writing and font would be normal 12pt however if it is a heading it would be a 20pt font.

The color of the text would be black (#030527) and the color Blue (#141de9) for the hyperlink text and this light blue (#DAE8FC) for the boxes that the hyperlink would be in.

The images and the design would be the same for every page of a device.

The website would be used by many devices such as mobile, computer, tablets. The size of the website would change by the device used : e.g. Phones would have a smaller size of the website and other devices would have a bigger size. The images and the features of the website would change size based on the device.

The different design may be used if wanted however it would be mostly for homework purpose.

The PC Layout will have a 160 px * 160 px images for the normal design and for the different design of the PC Layout it would have 180 px * 180 px (in pages such as: Phones, Phone cases, headphones).

If here there are a little bit of "things" which are different (in normal design), in coding it would not be different and would have the same layout as every normal design.

The normal layout of smartphone sizes would be 150 px * 125 px and the different layout there would be

In the Different Design of the PC Layout in the page "Deals" the size of the pictures would be changed in to 260 px * 260 px.

If not said before and not made it visible to the person in charge of checking this file/the website itself, the layout would change depending by the device e. g if used a computer it would be a landscape and if used a smartphone if would be a portrait

After the handing over of this document some ideas that were deleted in the way of making this document, may or may not be taken in consideration during the making of the website and may be used to finish/to make the website.

If done so then the person in charge of checking the website would be informed.
